Apple UK Gender Pay Gap Report

2023 – 2024

We ensure pay equity for everyone, everywhere at Apple.

Pay equity is embedded in Apple's approach to compensation. Since 2017, Apple has achieved and maintained gender pay equity for all employees. The pay gap disclosed in this report and pay equity are separate measures. The pay gap is the difference in mean or median pay between women and men and does not account for valid factors that affect pay. Pay equity, on the other hand, uses rigorous statistical modeling to assess whether differences in pay exist for men and women after including factors such as role, experience, qualifications, location, scope, job function, and performance.

To maintain pay equity, Apple conducts regular, in-depth assessments of total compensation and discretionary awards, including base pay, discretionary bonuses, and discretionary Restricted Stock Units granted by Apple Inc. During our annual compensation planning process, we use analytics to assess promotion rates, performance ratings distribution, and pay metrics for women compared to men. And every year, as part of our annual pay equity review, Apple's team of compensation experts work with an independent third party to build and run statistical models to assess and resolve any differences in total compensation on the basis of gender.

We're building on Apple's special culture rooted in community.

At Apple, we are constantly striving to create a culture of belonging for everyone and a workforce that reflects the world around us. To that end, we remain committed to inclusive practices that support opportunities for all, including women at Apple, and women in senior and technical roles. In the UK, through this reporting period, 59.7 per cent of open leadership positions were filled by women. As a result, female representation in filled leadership positions grew by 13 per cent. Looking ahead, we will continue to build on our special culture, because we believe that inclusion helps fuel innovation.

Our total rewards programmes are designed thoughtfully and reflect our values.

Our people play an important role in Apple's success. That's why we design our total rewards programmes to attract and retain the best talent.
